

Elite Sports Exposure Report
September 19, 2009

Fairfield, CT – The fall adidas Phenom Exposure Camp (which is sponsored by adidas basketball and hosted by Elite Sports Events) kicked off this weekend showcasing some of the top players in the Northeast. One of the top performer that caught the eye of Coach Taylor (National adidas Phenom Camp Director) and Coach Riccitelli (Regional adidas Phenom Camp Director) was a freshman from Wisconsin. This freshman did a little of everything including showing off her speed, offensive skill set, and fearlessness. Ashley Freeman is a name you will be hearing nationally for the next 4 years. Freeman is 5'6 Point / Shooting Guard that displayed her understanding of the game by running the offense in the half court set, handling the ball with confidence in transition, and hitting shots from the perimeter consistently. Freeman showed her toughness by banging down low and getting on the floor for the ball. Freeman who seems advanced on the basketball court for her age has already played in over 500 organized games (Middle School, leagues, AAU Tournaments) and it showed as she was able to play up with older players and play with the boys. Freeman who is already catching the eye of Division I Women's programs has an unofficial visit set up at Iowa this fall. Freeman who runs with Indiana family for AAU is also an honors student. Freeman should see time this winter on her HS varsity team. We will hear more about Freeman as she should be back in March for the Spring adidas Phenom Exposure Camp in CT.
